

NOW FOR THE PROOF.

The Republican leaders in Nevada tell the people with apparent sincerity that the way to get silver remonetized is to support the Republican ticket. The people will very soon have opportunity of ascertaining what credence is to be given to the statement. The Fifty-fourth Congress will meet in regular session three weeks from next Monday. The House of Representatives is overwhelmingly Republican, and can, if so disposed, pass a bill over the President's veto. The Senate also has a Republican plurality, which will be increased two votes by the admission of Utah. If the Republicans are disposed to enact legislation favorable to silver they will very soon have opportunity to demonstrate the fact to the world. Though they lack a majority in the Senate they can count with certainty upon the six votes of the Populists and Silver men in that body. Does any of the party leaders, who are trying to allure voters with the decisive idea that the party favors free coinage believe that Congress will pass a free coinage bill? If they do why not make it manifest? As the prosperity of the State depends upon the restoration of silver, would it not be advisable for every Republican paper in the State to urge Congress to pass a free coinage bill? Might it not also be well for every Republican in the State to petition Congress to pass such a measure? No harm can result from such agitation and good may come of it.

Of course, if the leaders are satisfied that the Republicans will pass a free coinage bill there is no necessity of sending a petition, but the least the press can do is to agitate the subject, tell Congress what promises the party leaders have made to the people and ask that those promises be redeemed by the passage of a bill in the interest of silver.

THE SILVER PARTY.

It is a little remarkable that Republican sheets which supported the candidates of the Silver party for Congressional and Legislative offices in 1862 should be continually directing attention to their inconsistency. The fact that they do is a subject of comment among intelligent people of all parties. The Gazette, which never tires of misrepresenting the Silver party and its purposes, advocated the election of Senator Stewart at least half the time, and the election of Representative Newlands all the time in the campaign of 1862. In 1863, during the Midwinter campaign, it tried to convince Senator Jones that the way to remonetize silver was to keep parties in power that declare for the gold standard, and it had naught but honeyed words for the Senator until he declared that the Republican party is opposed to free coinage. These are facts susceptible of proof from the files of the paper.

The files of the Congressional Record do not show that the Congressional delegation from Nevada voted for an Administration measure. Cleveland would have been elected President had every one of the electoral votes cast for Weaver been given to Harrison. The Silver party unfortunately had not the numerical strength in Congress to pass a free coinage bill against the united opposition of Republicans and Democrats, but that its principles are right and meet the approval of every sincere advocate of silver remonetization, even many of those who were deceived by the Janus-faced, forked-tongued Republican leaders in the last campaign freely admit.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The Dayton Times voices the true silver sentiment as follows:

"So far as we are concerned we are with any party that is in favor of free coinage, no matter what its name may be. We have tried the Republican party for years and the Democratic party for years more, and the country has continued on its slide to the bottomless pit at just about the same rate of speed. The Populists are for free coinage, and this is the main issue in the financial question, and the financial question is the main issue before the people of this country, why not join hands on the one issue, drop all other questions, and try to put up a winning fight for silver in 1866? Why not?"

WILL NOT SWALLOW THE GOLD CURE.

The Silver State has the following comments on the elections:

"Tuesday's elections show more than anything else that silver Democrats will not swallow the gold cure which Cleveland, Carlisle & Co. endeavored to force down their throats. Democratic victory Tuesday would have been a practical endorsement of the gold standard. Defeat shows that thousands of Democrats would not allow parties to commit them to a policy their consciences would not accept. In the fullness of their wrath they voted with the Republicans and administered a scathing rebuke to the Republican party bosses."

DEMOCRATS repudiated the gold platform prepared for them by Mr. Cleveland's friends in every State in which they accepted it. In Mississippi the Democrats repudiated the Administration men who attempted to shape their platform, and there, and there alone, the Democrats were successful. Will the national convention profit by this lesson and nominate a silver man?"

KILLED BY STAGE ROBBERS.

Express Agent killed with Bullets. STOCKTON, November 9.—At 12:30 last night while the stages from Oakdale and Angels were changing horses at Chinese Camp, George Morris, assistant postmaster and express agent, was shot to death by robbers. Five thousand dollars in coin was shipped from Oakdale on the stage and the robbers were evidently aware of the fact. Morris had the money with him at the time and when called upon to surrender opened fire on the robbers. One of the men who had a shotgun returned the fire, riddling Morris's body with buckshot. Then they left without taking the money. Morris lived about three hours and is said to have given a description of the men. The bag of money was found by the side of the express agent when the stage driver ran to the place where the wounded man lay.

CHINESE REBELS.

Well Armed and Sixty Thousand Strong. LONDON, November 9.—Special dispatches from Shanghai say that the rebels in the northwest of China are armed with rifles of Russian manufacture. It is added that their leader, while maintaining strict discipline among his followers, accords to foreigners a benevolent protection. He sent a sort of an ultimatum to the Imperial Government, announcing an intention to advance upon Peking should the answer prove unfavorable. The rebels are now said to number over 60,000, and the Imperial forces are utterly unable to resist and are committing excesses in the territory under the rebels' control. Whole towns and villages are said to have been subjected to rapine, and the fields in the neighborhood are littered with corpses.

Banged for Wife Murder.

LITTLE ROCK, November 9.—William Newman, a prominent farmer, was banged at Clinton, Van Buren county, for the murder of his wife on April 18th last. At his wife's funeral, standing by the grave surrounded by mourners, Newman exclaimed: "Before God, I never murdered my wife." This led to his arrest and conviction on circumstantial evidence, it being shown that Newman wanted to get rid of his wife to marry another woman.

Senator Thurman Better.

COLUMBUS, O., November 6.—Allen Thurman says of ex-Senator Thurman's illness: "Father is very mac' better today. If he does not have a relapse I would not be surprised to see him get up." Mr. Thurman will be 82 years old next Wednesday.

Convicted of Murder.

SEATTLE, Wash., November 9.—James and John McCarron, brothers, were today convicted of the murder of Joseph Cicero. After a long trial the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. The killing was the result of a family feud.

KILLED in a Mine.

GRASS VALLEY, November 6.—Vic L. Dorsey, the assistant Superintendent of the Maryland mine, was caved on in the mine at 12 o'clock and died from his injuries.

THE DISTRICT SCHOOL.

An Immense Audience—An Interesting Performance.

The Opera House was tested to its utmost capacity last evening, the house being filled with a highly expectant and appreciative audience. The University Orchestra opened with an overture, and the curtain was rung up on a scene where the little country school pupils were on their way to school.

Ralph Osburn came on smoking a cigarette as scientifically as a confirmed "fend." Some of the other small boys, like Harry Thurtell, Henry Bergstein, Eben Leadbetter, etc., made their appearance in true gamin style. The girls, Jennie Logan, Polly Bergstein, Hattie Pinniger and Jennie Layton, came skipping in with a rope and hauling along their little brothers, Jackie Linn, Eddie Dodge, Bobby Lewers and Bobby Fulton.

The next scene was the school room, with Mr. Unsworth as the pedagogue, well made up and looking as severe as the occasion required. After many local hits and the usual recitations Judge Webster appeared as the proverbial selectman, and carried his part in good style.

The children were called upon to show the Judge what they could do and finished up with recitations, compositions, etc. Allie Bragg did "Mary Had a Little Lamb" well, but during the entire time he kept an eye on Natic Wilson, who had brought a dead snake near knocking Allie off his equilibrium, as he had decided antipathy to such vermin as many of his most intimate friends know.

"Frisco can boast of an 'Emerson,' but we can 'Bragg' of an Allie. Frankie Barker, little Lexie Moore and Henrietta Hamilton were great, but the crowning climax of the whole evening was when Ruby Kinney and Tommy Hymers played horse.

The entertainment from a financial standpoint was good, and it is probable that Tom Hymers will soon appear in the title role of "Fallstaff," and John Fulton as the "Moor of Venice."

KENNEDY DISTRICT.

The New Era Company to Erect Works This Winter.

O. W. Schweitzer, representing the New Era Gold Mining and Mill Company of San Francisco, has, after consulting several of the principal mine owners of the district, concluded not to start the electric milling plant at Kennedy for the Winter. The Central Nevadaian is informed that he will place the plant in position during the Winter and have everything in readiness to begin operations early next Spring. Mr. Schweitzer deserves a great deal of credit as he has worked very assiduously to try and make his plan a success, and has thoroughly tested the ores in the camp and find them to be satisfactory and that they can be worked to a close percentage.

A Despondent Suicides—Nothing to Live For—Carson Journalism.

[Correspondence of the JOURNAL.]

CARSON CITY, November 9, 1895.

The sensation of the day was a very decided case of suicide discovered about 7 o'clock this morning. A rancher coming to town in his wagon found the dead body of a man lying by the roadside in the mouth of King's Canyon about a mile west from the Ormsby House. He hastened to inform the officials, who repaired thither examined the situation and brought the body to the morgue. It proved to be that of Melville O. Maynard, a well-known resident of Carson for several years, being employed in the livery stable business and latterly in the employ of D. L. Bliss, taking care of his private teams, family carriages, etc.

For the last three or four months he had been dissipated and out of employment. Nearly a year ago a woman friend of his, named Ruby King, left here and went to Grass Valley, Cal., where she committed suicide. Since then he has been more or less despondent, and has remarked several times recently that he had nothing to live for,
and yesterday and last evening he was very drunk, wandering about the tenderloin section. When last seen he was reeling along the street and steering to where his body was found. How he managed to get so far away and into such a rough locality in the dark can only be imagined. A report of a pistol was heard about 11 o'clock, when it is supposed he committed the deed.
The weapon was a 38-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver, and when found the marks in the muddy soil showed that he had rolled about considerably after firing the fatal shot, the pistol being half buried in the sand and mud.

The autopsy made by Dr. Lee showed that he had held the pistol close to his breast, the ball entering just above the left nipple, passing though both lobes
of the left lung, severing the pulmonary blood vessels and lodging in the muscles of the back, causing speedy death. Coroner Ellis held an inquest and the verdict was in accordance with the eviledeed adduced that he had commited suicide.

Deceased was a native of Massachusetts, aged 42 years, leaving no relatives in this section, and will be buried to-morrow under the auspices of Capitol Lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member.

The Carson News having changed to an evening paper, both it and the Evening Tribune appear to be enjoying increased prosperity. The Morning Appeal certainly is, all three papers showing improvement and being apparently benefited all around by the change.

Next Monday comes a picnic to Carson in the shape of the venture of seventy-five miners summoned to attend the United States District Court which commences there on the mint shortage cases. These, with the attendant attorneys, witnesses, etc., will be quite an addition to the population and general business life of Carson and make things agreeably stirring and out of the old routine. Many of the surplus citizens have gone out to employment in the booming placer gold mines
of Buckeye, but this influx of outsiders will more than compensate, as well as being more profitable to the Capital generally.

THE SILVER PARTY IN THE SOUTH

North Carolina Follows in the Foot steps of Nevada.

WASHINGTON, November 2, 1895.

Mr. C. E. McKesson, one of North

Carolina's most prominent attorneys and lecturers, who is in this city,

afforded me a pleasant interview to-day.

I asked him concerning the Silver

party in North Carolina and if there was any truth in the report that one was to be organized. He said:

"The silver men in North Carolina

are now arranging to hold township

and county conventions all over the State, either late in this month or early in December, the township conventions to appoint delegates to the county, and the county to appoint delegates to the State convention. The time for the State convention will not be earlier than April, 1896. It is the purpose of the silver men to organize a new party with no plank in it but free silver at 16 to 1. No questions will be asked as to any man's past political associations or opinions. It will make no difference whether a man is a free

trader or a high protectionist, whether

Democrat, Republican or Populist,

whether Jew or Gentile, Greek or barbarian. The only question will be,

"Are you above all things honest in your advocacy of free silver?" If so,

you must burn all your bridges behind

you, sever all political ties and lend your influence to the proclamation of a new declaration of independence in North Carolina. The silver men in North Carolina by thus getting together feel that they can organize such a powerful party in our State as will sweep all the others off the deck, and by thus taking the initiative will give

new life and vigor to the cause throughout the Union. I notice that your State has taken some such steps."

I explained to him the organization of the Silver party in Nevada. The same plan is to be pursued in North Carolina.

Action, Action, action; that is now

what is needed; less talk and more action; less talk and more organization. Why is the Republican party almost invincible? Because of its

Not So Funny After All.

Two little fellows struck a mine of amusement one day last week and worked it for all it was worth.

Their plan was to stand at the street corner, and when a pedestrian got in good range they called out excitedly, pointing to the victim's feet:

"Say! You dropped your footstep!"

It was great fun—for the boys.

Presently an old lady approached the corner. She was fat and looked important. The boys hopped themselves in sheer delight. This time, to prolong the enjoyment, they began:

"Say, miss! Sense us, but you dropped somethin'!"

"Dear me! What? Such nice little boys, I'm sure!" And she stopped and picked up a silver quarter lying directly before her and sailed on.—Philadelphia Times.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

He Couldn't Explain.
A very small newsboy, who had just sold his last paper, leaned against the iron lampost and shouted with all his lung power: "Pa-i-per! Twelv'y-clock pa-i-per! Extra twelv'y-clock!"

The boy was working overtime, either from force of habit or because of his natural exuberance. It is not uncommon in Calhoun place for a boy to stop short and yell several times, merely to reduce himself.

It happened that a pedestrian was attracted by the shouts of the boy against the lampost. He smiled as he looked at the youngster and then said, "All right, give me one of your papers."

That startled the boy. He looked thoughtfully at the man, rubbed his hand into his pocket and said, "I ain't got any."

" Didn't I hear you calling a 12 o'clock paper?"

" Yes, but I didn't mean"— It was too much of an explanation. A professor of psychology who had studied the laws of unconscious cerebration might have told why the boy stood on the corner shouting papers when he had no papers to sell, but the boy adopted a less difficult course and ran away.—Chicago Record.

Taking Exercise.

Fool Harry Shulman, the long haired poet who dressed his entire person to resemble Buffalo Bill, and who was in fact, startlingly like the greatest of scouts, used to tell me of a literary friend of his who had a novel method of taking exercise. His workshop was on the top floor of his house, far from the noise of the street, and he used to write about 15 hours a day. He was not a Howells or a Bronson Howard, whose working hours never exceed four in any one day. He worked, he labored, he toiled. He had no time for a bicycle and could not afford a horse. He hated walking. Run he could not. Swimming was out of the question. Still he must have exercise. He kept his dictionary in the basement and his thesaurus in the kitchen. As he used both very often it was necessary to make many trips down stairs and up again, and in that way he kept himself in splendid physical condition. A visitor once saw him dashing down stairs like a madman and soaring up again like a kite, and was distressed till informed by John's wife that John was simply hunting for a word and had found it.—New York Press.

A Philadelphia Mustache.

" I've seen some peculiar whiskers in my day," remarked a Ninth street barber yesterday, " but there was a fellow in here the other day who simply beat the deck for mustaches. They were of the long, flowing kind, and when in repose hung gracefully down over his shirt front. After I had finished shaving him he asked me to dress his mustache, giving me my instructions how to do it. First, I gave it a brilliantine bath and combed it out. Then I waxed it until the points stood out on each side of his face like bayonets. He seemed very proud of it and didn't object when I asked him if I might measure it. In fact, he seemed rather pleased. I took a tape-line and found that from tip to tip that marvelous mustache measured a trifle over 23 inches. He next asked me to curl it. This was a difficult operation, but after exhausting several curling irons I succeeded in heating a section of gas pipe to the proper temperature and finished the job."—Philadelphia Record.

AT A TENEMENT WINDOW.

Sometimes my needle stops with half drawn thread.
(Not often, though. Each moment's waste means bread, and mending stitches leave the little mouths to look down on the dingy court below: A tuft of grass is all it has to show, A broken pump where thirsty children go. Above there shines a bit of sky so small That it might be a passing bluebird's wing. One day it comes up against the brick wall, And then the leaves twitter of the spring Until they walk in my heart to cry Of hunger that no bread can satisfy.

Always before when May time took her way Across the stone walls of the court. Today I see her dream of all her bright array. My work drops down. Across the still I lean And long with bitter longing for unseen Rain freshened paths where huddling woods grow green. The water trickles from the pump below Upon the stone walls of the court. There here I sit, a poor whose bushes grow And feel a cool presence drawing near. And now the sparrows chirp again. No, hark! A singing as of some fair meadow lark.

It is the same old miracle applied Unto myself, that on the mountain side The few small leaves and fishes multiplied. Behold how strange and sweet the mystery! The birds, the broken pump, the gnarled tree Have brought the fullness of the spring to me. For in the leaves that rustle by the wall All forests find a tongue. And so that grass Can vanquish its struggling tuft of green recall Wide bloom filled meadows where the cattle pass.

How it can be but dimly I divine. These crums, God given, make the whole loaf mine. —Annie F. Johnston in Youth's Companion.

HER ALARM CLOCK.

And Why She Had Good Reason for Being Interested in It.

A suburban woman not long since purchased an alarm clock. It was a fat nickel plated little affair with the customary going atop. The woman got the clock because she felt an overwhelming desire to play the role of the early bird. That night, therefore, she set the time-piece according to the specified directions. But for some reason or other the clock failed to go off. The woman gave it a second trial. Again it played her false. She took it to the suburban jeweler. He said the clock was outrageously out of order, hinted darkly at the dishonesty of any individual who would palm off such an article as perfect goods and prescribed a course of treatment which he would be gracious enough to administer for the sum of 75 cents. The clock's original cost had been $1.50.

The night that it came back from the suburban jeweler the woman wound it up with a feeling of unspeakable security. This time the rôle of the early bird would be hers for certain. The next morning, however, it failed to go off, just as before. The woman took it back to the suburban jeweler, who received it with an "I told you so" and returned it to her home in triumph.

Next morning, though, the same old drama was enacted, and the woman was once more unable to assume the rôle of the early bird. Had she been a man she might have sworn. As it was, she confided her woes to the breakfast-tableful. "Why, that clock's been going off all the time," observed the woman who occupied the neighboring room to the clock owner. "It's waked me up every morning regularly. The trouble is it hasn't waked you."

Whereupon the woman felt more interested in the clock than ever. To think of its having so little discrimination and discretion as to wake up the wrong person!—New York Sun.
